Commentary

Mr. Matthew Murphy, comments: “As a leader in compliance enforcement in the early days of the current global opiate crisis, I strived to hold all parties accountable and create a safer system for all participants. As that situation has sadly deteriorated, it has become clear to me it is time for alternative solutions. While observing the evolution of the global legal medical cannabis market as well as Colombia’s entrance, I firmly believe Khiron embodies best in class approaches to quality production and security within a robust federal regulatory framework.”

Mr. Alvaro Torres, President and CEO of Khiron, comments: “We are very pleased to welcome Mr. Murphy to the advisory board. Mr. Murphy is highly regarded by both his former peers at the DEA and throughout private industry. He is an excellent addition to our team. His appointment is a testament to our commitment of ensuring regulatory compliance and world-class security measures consistent with the most stringent requirements for controlled substances in every jurisdiction where we operate.”
