Khiron Life Sciences Launches Latin American Medical Education Program With Events in Colombia and Mexico

Program launches with endorsement from one of Mexico's leading medical associations

TORONTO, Jan. 18, 2019 /CNW/ - Khiron Life Sciences Corp. ("Khiron" or the "Company") (TSXV: KHRN), (OTCQB: KHRNF), (Frankfurt: A2JMZC), an integrated medical cannabis company with its core operations in Colombia, announced today that the Company has launched its Latin America medical education program with a schedule of doctor training and learning events in Bogota, Colombia on January 21-23, and in Mexico City, Mexico on February 28. These events, with more than 300 health care professionals in attendance, reflect a growing relationship between Khiron, medical associations and health care professionals across the region to inform, educate and discuss medical cannabis knowledge and developments.

The Khiron medical education program is launching in Colombia and Mexico as part of a stated strategy to build a robust doctor network across Latin America through Khiron hosted and sponsored events and conferences, and with the endorsement of leading regional medical associations. Events are education based, with global research and insight on medical cannabis and information platforms to support doctors and health care professionals in providing medical cannabis treatment options.

Alvaro Torres, Co-founder and Chief Executive Officer, Khiron Life Sciences, commented; "The launch of our medical education program is integral to the Khiron business model and to our strategy to build a network of doctors and health care professionals across Latin America. We welcome and appreciate the endorsement of the Mexican College of Internal Medicine for KhironMed in Mexico, and look forward to working with their members as we expand our education program throughout the region."

Dr. Maria Fernanda Arboleda MD, Khiron Medical Director, added; "As clinical research continues to escalate and to support the use of medical cannabis as a complementary treatment for several medical conditions, such as chronic pain and palliative care, it is crucial that we actively involve health care providers to share and discuss updated, comprehensive and reliable knowledge and how this information should be well-applied to meet patient needs in Colombia, Mexico and across Latin America."

First Khiron ILANS Medical Cannabis Course 2019 – Bogota, Colombia

The first Khiron ILANS Medical Cannabis Course is a three-day hosted in Bogota, Colombia from January 21-23, 2019, and will provide research-based, global knowledge on medical cannabis, with presentations led by Dr. Maria Fernanda Arboleda MD, Khiron Medical Director and insight from Jairo Espinoza, founder of ILANS medical clinics and Khiron VP of Medical Affairs. The course will also discuss current and future Colombian medical cannabis legislation with Juan Diego Alvarez, Khiron VP of Regulations

Course presentations will feature sessions with international medical leaders, including renown palliative care and medical cannabis specialist Dr. Michael Dworkind, who has trained multiple health care providers in Canada, as well as pharmaceutical clinical consultant and educator, Pharmacist Michael Bolvin, as the event brings together Presidents of Colombia's leading Medical Associations, doctors and health care professionals in a learning environment with modules designed to detail and review medical cannabis considerations and treatment for certain patient conditions.

KhironMed 2019 – Mexico City, Mexico

KhironMed 2019 will be hosted by Khiron in Mexico City, Mexico on February 28, 2019 with an opening presentation by Mr. Vicente Fox former President of Mexico and Khiron board member. The one-day symposium which is endorsed by Centro Fox, will welcome prominent doctors and health care professionals and feature keynote presentations by Dr. Maria Fernanda Arboleda MD, Khiron Medical Director, Dr. Ethan Russo, currently Director of Research and Development at the International Cannabis and Cannabinoids Institute and Dr. Edwin Bendek, dermatologist, specialist in anti-aging and regenerative medicine and CBD based cosmeceuticals, among other speakers.
